

Posted August 11, 2015

Myers Industries is seeking an Application Developer Level II to join its fast-paced corporate IT department. The Application Developer Level II will be responsible for II receiving system enhancement requests, developing code and testing solutions. This position will also create and modify low complexity programs based on functional specifications.

ESSENTIAL DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING. OTHER DUTIES MAY BE ASSIGNED:

- Take direction from Application Development Manager
- Perform analysis, creates estimates and documents requirements for new applications.
- Analyze systems and procedures and consult with others in order to determine hardware, software, or system specifications.
- Design, develop, document, analyze, create, test or modify computer systems or programs in connection with their use or design requirements.
- Document, test, create or modify computer programs in connection with software or hardware design for operating systems.
- Work with business area for full testing.
- Supports existing applications
- Present innovative solutions and demonstrate effective problem solving skills
- SharePoint and .Net development, assist other team members with design decisions
- Work break/fix issues to resolution
- Assist in troubleshooting of various issues in SharePoint
- Coordinate development efforts with the development team

To be qualified for this exciting, challenging opportunity you must have:

- Must have SharePoint development and administrative experience.
- Ability to troubleshoot complex issues in SharePoint 2010 environments
- Strong understanding of Object Oriented Programming and Design.
- Proficient in .NET programming language
- Development of custom applications, along with SharePoint troubleshooting and administration functions
- Competent in business requirements analysis and technical documentation of processes

This position requires a bachelor's degree in Computer Science or similar field and 3-6 years of experience.

You must also be able to effectively communicate technical information to both technical and non-technical personnel.

For consideration, send resume to:

Corporate Human Resources
mcareer@myersind.com